The dream

Last night I dreamed that I was walking in an old market with my brother. A man gave me a small bottle of water and said «بارك الله فيك» twice.
Then I saw 7 white birds flying over the mosque at 5:30 in the morning.

This is a good dream, God willing. Water given to you is a sign of provision and ease, and walking with your brother shows support between you. The white birds over the mosque point to good news that comes early, like the morning time you saw.
And God knows best.
